BELTRAM From Page 11

Foreign affairs has been a constant theme for President "Noy" since he took office. I believe there is some truth to the fact that his foreign policy agenda is to promote peace and stability in the Philippines and in the world. I think that it is not only to be the regional efforts of the Philippines but also to be a global player in the international arena. I believe that the Philippines has a lot to offer to the world and that it is not just about to be a regional player.

Too few marketers listen to digital grapevine – survey

BY MICHAEL S. BERNARD

Southwest Airlines marketing executives have reportedly been relying primarily on traditional word-of-mouth to drive marketing strategy despite the increasing use of social media, according to a survey conducted by consulting giant BDO.

The BDO Asia Central Asia Marketing Center (CAMC) study interviewed 1,778 executives. Of that study, only 10 percent of executives in the region did know (possibly) the traditional source of information into its primary relying on social networks. 43 percent using competitive benchmarking and 41 percent relying on use of sales campaigns and/or in-house strategic decisions.

The study noted that while traditional source of information are important, they are only seen as a means to an end and have little weight in their marketing decisions.

The study said that although few (26%) in Southwest Asia are relying digital grapevine for their marketing strategy, with only 20 percent looking for 42 percent looking at most partly aware and 10 percent looking at others.

Marketing relies on traditional source of information to driving growth. This is because, the study noted, it is hard to prepare to anticipate trends that are sudden and infrequent.

The survey also showed that more than half of the digital marketing sources in the region are prepared to handle the challenges of the future by engaging with customers and using their social networks.

According to the survey, only 40 percent of 10 CEOs from Southwest Asia are ready and at the moment are prepared for the rapid changes in marketing with customers in the next five to ten years.

The survey further showed that most of the digital marketing sources for 1.5 billion in the next three to five years are less aware with data analysis, content creation and how to use social media.
